

Households in the Southern Windsor Region on Assistance

Households in Vermont can receive assistance in a variety of ways. The following data summarizes the number of households for each of our towns which received assistance through Vermont’s current cash assistance programs: Reach Up and 3SquaresVT for the January of that year. The data came from the Vermont Agency of Human Services in 2018.

For our region we can see that the number of households relying on assistance has decreased over the last four years. 19% of households in our region were on assistance in January 2018.
